OPENING OF CONGRESS.

Much Speculation About What Laws Will be Passed.

Talk of War With Japan All Thought to Be Mere Rumor.

(Special to THE REPUBLICAN.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—The opening of Congress this week has, of course, been the event in the political world. It means much to the social world also, because it is the signal for a round of gaiety with official, semi-official and private entertainments that have come more and more in recent years to occupy an important place in the winter life of Washington.

The big white building on the hill was crowded for the opening day, as it always is on such occasions. Speaker Cannon, at one end of the building fairly divided interest with Vice President Fairbanks, at the other. The galleries were packed, the diplomatic gallery especially, and the crowd of distinguished visitors entirely overflowed the private galleries and nearly filled the seats usually designed to accommodate the people. Of course the first day's session was productive of nothing in particular. This day never is. In fact the whole of the time between now and Christmas will, in all probability, be devoted largely to organizing the two houses and getting things in running order before the Christmas recess. The rumored change that was to come about with Senator Platt's resignation did not materialize, and the quiet old gentleman was on hand in his seat as usual.

There is a great deal of speculation over the legislation that Congress will be able to get through in the brief time allowed it during a short session. It is generally agreed that the Ship Subsidy bill will be passed. There is hope also in a great many quarters that the Rivers and Harbors appropriation bill will be passed. Representative Burton, of Ohio, chairman of the River and Harbor committee, is naturally much interested in the measure. The plan of the River and Harbor Congress is for a widespread and systematic scheme of river and harbor improvement, which would involve an outlay of about $50,000,000 annually, for several years to come.

There are a number of other measures of considerable importance which will probably furnish a basis for a great deal of talk. These include reform currency legislation, the inheritance tax bill and the Philippine tariff. All of them are very good measures, but which are not likely to stand much show during the brief three months session.

War talk is coming up again over the Japanese situation. Most of it comes from abroad, where the foreign powers profess to think that the United States stands in a very serious position with Japan. Secretary Metcalf, who has returned from the Pacific coast, has made a private report to the President on the San Francisco school situation, and while he is not saying very much for publication, it is not believed that he takes the situation very much to heart. It is impossible to imagine Japan going to war over anything so trivial as the exclusion of her children from the white schools. This is not the sort of a provocation out of which wars are made. Further, Japan has had recent and thorough experience of just what a war means, and while her showing against Russia was undoubtedly surprising and put her in line as a first-class power, it is not thought that she would want to pull off another fight while her material and financial resources were still so seriously strained.

Among The Lodges.

The Masonic Blue Lodge met in regular monthly session Monday night, with a good attendance. Only routine work was disposed of. The lodge made its regular gift of $5.00 for Christmas presents, to the children of the Masonic Widows and Orphans Home.

Election of officers and a fine turkey supper were the features of last night's Maccabee meeting. At the regular meeting of Rough River Lodge K. of P's., Tuesday night, two Pages were proven in the rank of Esquire. It was decided to give a quail supper Christmas night, to which the wives, sisters or sweethearts of Knights will be invited. Committees on supper and program were named.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Beautiful Young Lady, Of Askins. Attempts to Take Her Life by Drinking Carboic Acid.

Fordsville, Ky., Dec. 5.—This city was shocked Tuesday afternoon by attempted suicide, by drinking carboic acid in Cooper's drug store, of Miss Lucy Morton, a young lady about 22 years of age. Miss Morton is the daughter of Rev. James Morton, who lives about four miles east of here, and is a young lady of rare beauty and intelligence. No motive for the rash act is known, as her relations with the world are not different from the average young lady and her friends believe her effort to end her life must have resulted from temporary aberration of mind.

Miss Morton came into the drug store and called for five cents worth of carboic acid which, when handed her, she deliberately drank down with the apparent composure of one drinking the last draught of a long and pleasant banquet. A number of people witnessed the dreadful act, and were ready at once with antidotes to administer, but the young lady composedly refused to take the medicines offered her, but fortunately there was a traveling man present, who appreciated the necessity for prompt action and he seized the young lady and forced restoratives down her throat. Later a physician came to the rescue with trained knowledge of such matters and her life was saved. Very fortunately the acid Miss Morton drank was much diluted and the effect was not so serious as otherwise might have been. Miss Morton comes of one of the best families in Ohio county and her unhappy experience is universally deplored by her friends and acquaintances.

Resolutions of Respect.

Cromwell Lodge, No. 692, F. & A. M. Again has been sounded at the door of our lodge an alarm and the angel of death, who cannot be refused admission, has removed from our midst our beloved brother, N. C. Daniel, who was born October 1, 1835 and died November 28, 1906, therefore be it

Resolved, That bowing submissively to the divine decree, we deeply deplore our loss, but are comforted with the well-grounded hope that our loss is his gain, and a reasonable assurance that he has only been removed from this terrestrial lodge to the Grand Lodge above, there to spend an eternity of bliss under the watchful care of the Grand Master of the universe.

Resolved, That by the death of Brother Daniel this lodge sustained the loss of a good and faithful brother, true to the grand principles of Masonry, his wife a loving husband, his children a kind father, the community a good and true citizen.

Resolved, That we extend to the family and friends of our deceased brother our heart-felt sympathy and earnestly commend them to the care of God, on whom he trusted, and who alone can wipe away all tears and administer comfort in time of trouble.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and a copy be sent to the family of our deceased brother, and be published in both of the county papers.

EQUITY COLLEGE

To be Built at Owensboro Chautauqua Park.

A. S. of E. to Furnish half and The Chautauqua Company Other Half of Capital.

At a meeting Monday between J. A. Everitt, President of the American Society of Equity, and the officials of Seven Hills Chautauqua, an agreement was entered into for the establishment of an Equity college in connection with the Chautauqua, says the Owensboro Messenger. A college to cost about $50,000 will be erected at some suitable place in the Chautauqua park and will be used for the accommodation of the school, which will be in operation during the usual school months.

Of the $50,000 which is to be immediately put into the institution, one-half is to be furnished by the A. S. of E. and the remaining one-half is to be furnished by the Chautauqua company. Mr. Everitt will at once begin the work of raising his portion of the fund. The Chautauqua people will also go to work at once. The school will be immediately capitalized at $50,000 with the intention of later doubling the capital stock.

The plan of the college will be unique in many respects. In a prospectus, which Mr. Everitt prepared after he began his correspondence with the Chautauqua people, an outline is given of what the school is expected to accomplish. "In the Equity college," says the prospectus, "the work will be organized in accordance with the most thoroughly approved educational methods. But our chief claim to a school that is certain to produce exceptionally good results, lies in certain features entirely new and distinctive, which mark an epoch in the history of education. Education will be naturally and intelligently directed along lines of the greatest natural qualifications, and the parent or guardian of the pupil will be told what he or she is best gifted for. In this way a mistake need not be made in selecting and preparing for a life vocation. We will strive to give a useful education rather than a fancy one."

In a general way, Mr. Everitt says of his proposed school, "Our aim is to establish an educational institution where the principles of equity, truth and right living and thinking will be inculcated in the minds of the youth of the land."

Testing the Mineral.

The Punxsutawney Drilling and Contracting Company, of Punxsutawney, Pa., began Monday putting down a hole for the Hartford Coal and Oil Co., for the purpose of testing the mineral on their land. The drill used is what is known as a core drill which cuts out a core 2 1/2 inches in diameter the entire depth of the hole, and delivers same in sections about 20 feet long. This core furnishes definite information concerning the various kinds of mineral or other substances through which the drill penetrates. A hole 500 feet will be bored on the North side of the creek opposite the ice factory. Other tests will probably be made at other points.

Thanksgiving Day Celebration.

The Thanksgiving Day celebration of November 29th, 1906, at the home of Col. Edwin Forbes, near Fordsville, was more than is usual in this part of the State. At an early hour the guests began to arrive and by 10 o'clock a. m. the expected participants had all arrived.

As the history which gave dawn to the national observation of this day is so dimly known by so many this far from the New England States, Col. Forbes gave his company a brief history of its origin. The Colonel is a native of New England and his grandmother Forbes and grandmother Perry were the descendants of the Plymouth Rock pilgrims. He gave an account of the persecution of these pious people under the blue laws of Great Britain, and how they were driven out of England into Holland, and to further exercise their free and religious belief, they crossed the stormy Atlantic ocean to the far-away wilds of America, and on the 22d day of December, 1620, they landed on the barren and inhospitable shore at Plymouth Rock, of which the poet says:

The breaking waves dashed high
On a stern and rock-bound coast,
And the woods against a stormy sky
Their giant branches tossed;
And the heavy night hung dark,
The hills and waters o'er,
When a band of exiles moored their bark

On the wild New England shore.
Col. Forbes said that the second summer after their arrival they were threatened by a severe drouth. A public fast was appointed and that evening the clouds collected and poured down copious showers which gladdened the face of the earth. A day of general thanksgiving was appointed, which is supposed to be the origin of the New England Thanksgiving Day.

The convention was interrupted by a summons to the table where an ample board was spread, where all partook of the Thanksgiving repast. The evening was spent in social enjoyment, during which Col. Forbes exhibited some early settlers' relics and instructed some of the young people in the art of water color painting.

On leaving for their homes all expressed themselves satisfied with the days entertainment and said that they had learned much of their national festival day that they never knew before.

NARROWS.

Dec. 5.—Mr. Chas. Wedding, who has been attending school at Bowling Green for several months, came home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Renfrow were in Owensboro Monday.

Mr. Cooper Powers and Miss Tina Powers were in Fordsville Wednesday.

Miss Bessie Renfrow was in Owensboro Monday.

Much corn was lost by river farmers here in the recent flood in Rough river.

The pooling house here is booming. Nearly two hundred thousand pounds of tobacco have been pooled since the house opened, and had the weather been seasonable for stripping, perhaps double that amount would have been received. The management of the house is giving the farmers better satisfaction than it had been expected could be given when dealing with such a large number of tobacco growers. There is weather indication now of a stripping season and a flood of tobacco is expected to come in within the next few days, but preparation has been made to handle it at the warehouse without unreasonable delay. It is very gratifying to the managers of the house to hear many farmers say that their advance of money on their tobacco is better than they had expected, considering the quality of the crop being pooled.

MAGAN.

Dec. 3.—Rev. F. D. Baughn filled his regular appointment and delivered farewell sermon at Pleasant Hill Sunday.

Misses Ida and Nolie Chambers, Fordsville, attended church at Magan Sunday.

F. D. Baughn has sold his business houses and stock of merchandise to Messrs. J. L. Denton and Charlie Mills and will leave the first of January for Hartford.

The new warehouse at this place is almost completed and will be ready for receiving tobacco soon.

Mrs. Matty Renfrow is very low of consumption.

Mrs. Claude Renfrow spent Sunday at Ronda Millers.

Wilbur Deaver and family, Jingo, spent Sunday at Mrs. Deavers' father, J. W. Wright.

Willie Taul went to Breckenridge county Sunday to see his brother.

THE PRINCETON RAID.

Presents a Problem Worthy of Attention --- Participants Actuated by Bad Motives.

(Special to THE REPUBLICAN.)

The burning of two large tobacco stemmeries by a mob of three hundred men at Princeton last Saturday presents a problem well worthy of attention of all thoughtful citizens.

The deed is a shocking example of lawlessness and the perpetrators, we will allow, should be apprehended and punished, but the incident challenges attention by its unusual features. It would be rash presumption that so large a number of criminals at heart could be gotten together in Caldwell county. It must be allowed that these men were actuated by misguided notions of protecting their own interests. It is far from my purpose to become the apologist for midnight incendiaries, but it cannot be unprofitable to look this incident in the face, and call a spade a spade. For several years the tobacco trust has been piling up unneeded millions, taken by force from the tobacco growers of Kentucky, and now these tobacco growers, educated to the manner of the theft, are retaliating in kind to the point of wasteful destruction of property.

The womb of oppression is ever quick with revolution and the Princeton incident is but an example of the operation of a law of human conduct as ancient as the history of the human race. The tobacco trust has oppressed, through the power of money and the potency of organization, the tobacco growers to the verge of bankruptcy, and goaded by the law of necessity to the invention of The Tobacco Growers' Association as a protective agency. The Association's work of education has gone on until the growers, inflamed by awakened consciousness of their oppression and emboldened by recently acquired knowledge of their power, run the common course of human nature to violence. John Brown has come again to Harper's Ferry—heart right, head wrong, apostle of revolution. In a period of prosperity, perhaps never before paralleled, the tobacco growers seem to be the last to come into his share, and to those accustomed to look at human nature as it is, rather than as it ought to be, as the common custom is, see little cause for surprise, though much for regret, in the Princeton riot. Frankly my life is too short to waste my sympathy on the tobacco trust in its pecuniary loss at Princeton, where it has sown the wind and reaped the whirlwind, though I recognize, that the preservation of social order renders it imperative to apprehend and severely punish these disturbers of the public peace. The fight of the farmers against the tobacco trust can and must be won by peaceful means and the fanatical crusader must be taught that the wanton destruction of property strikes, not only at the tobacco trust, but at the very foundation of social order, which the State must sustain at whatever cost, and yet, those responsible for the maintenance of social order should not fail to see in these instances of disorder, danger signals along the line of modern methods of organized wealth. Not until cause is eradicated can results be expected to wholly disappear.

FOR THE BUSY READER.

It is rumored in Washington that Stuyvesant Fish may succeed the late Samuel Spencer as President of the Southern railway.

Mrs. Carrie Nation has arrived at Corbin, Ky., and enlisted her services in the fight of the temperance element, which will be decided this week.

It is reported in Panama that John G. Sullivan, assistant chief engineer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, has resigned. He was appointed in October, 1905.

Chairman Knapp, of the Civil Service Commission, in a letter to Senator Hansbrough deplores the lack of authority of the commission to remedy the present car shortage.

Practically all the insurance companies having risks on the so-called trust tobacco plants have canceled the policies in the western part of Kentucky by telegraph, and no more will be issued until the present disturbances subside.

Notes From the H. B. I.

Interest is still good in the Hartford Business Institute.

Grossie Williams, city, entered school Wednesday to take a course in bookkeeping.

Our enrollment is increasing at a steady rate, and we receive inquiries every day from prospects in regard to our work. In order to meet the need of our shorthand students, we have added another Smith Premier typewriter on our equipments.

Miss Florence Jones, Drakesboro, who has been working on bookkeeping and typewriting since September, began work in shorthand Monday. Miss Anna Griffin commenced work Tuesday in bookkeeping and is now carrying the combined course. Miss May E. Rogers completed banking Monday. Miss Hettie Reynolds, Florence Jones, and Evans Calais will be ready for banking in a short time.

The greatest speed in phrase writing so far was made by Roy Heavrin 187 words per minute, and the greatest speed typewriting by Miss Gladys Duke. A typewriting contest will be held in a short time, the result of which will be given next week.

Applications for office help continue to come. Two young men stenographers wanted this week. This substantiates the claims we have made from the beginning that we could place students in positions as soon as they were competent.

Notice.

The stockholders of the Hartford Tobacco Warehouse Company are notified to meet at Hartford Monday, December 10, 1906.

NEW RAT DANGER

Rodents Two And One-Half Feet Long.

Reached New York on Ships And May Become Naturalized.

(New York American.)

Considerable excitement was created the other day by three gigantic rats on a barge in the North river. They attacked a terrier and bit him to death, but were finally killed with an ax by John Stenneck, a longshoreman, who lives at 230 River Street, Hoboken.

The rats were of such extraordinary size as to suggest that they may have been brought to New York from the west coast of Africa, where there exists in large numbers a species of rat known in the native Fang language as kui. About two and a half feet long, the kui is in other respects so much like the common brown rat as to be practically a magnificent edition of the latter. That it should be imported into this is no matter for surprise, inasmuch as it frequents houses and might easily find its way on board a ship.

This be it observed, is exactly the way in which the rats which are already so familiar first arrived in America. They have been the companions of man, living at his expense, though against his will, since prehistoric times, and have made their way to all parts of the world by taking passage on vessels. No house rats are natives to this country, though we have a good many non-domesticated species, such as field rats and wood rats.

Thirty years ago the common house rat in this country was the black rat, with long tail and big ears; and at that time the brown rat, sometimes called the "Norway rat," was familiar to us only as a denizen of wharves and ships, being often spoken of as the "ship rat" or "deck rat." This rat, however, soon drove out the black species. It was nearly twice as big and much more ferocious, so it was able to put the black to flight, taking its place in our houses.

Both the black and the gray rats are of Asiatic origin. The former is said to have entered Europe by way of Aitrahon about four centuries ago, the brown species (from Persia) following 200 years later. At the present time the brown rat is the animal, being able to hold its own anywhere by reason of its vigor and ferocity. Man has never been able to fight it very successfully, and its numbers are limited only by the available food supply. So rapidly does it breed that, if all offsprings survived, the progeny of a single pair in three years would number 3651,000 and would weigh as much as eighty large elephants.

If the kui from Africa should be introduced in the United States it would be likely in its turn to drive out the brown rat, and, being so huge, it might become a dangerous nuisance. Rats two and a half feet long, if they became common, would be no joke. Indeed the brown rats are bad enough. A dozen of them killed two little children named Woodward in Dorchester, a suburb of Boston, in February, 1899. They will even assail grown people when the latter can be taken at a disadvantage, and in many instances they have bitten to death intoxicated persons.

The brown rat, in proportion to its size, is one of the most dangerous of animals. A discreet rat will hesitate to tackle it and it will even face a ferret in the open. It is especially when found in sewers is exceedingly dangerous, because its teeth, foul with half-decomposed matter on which it has fed, convey infection to the wound. That it frequently carries disease—such as typhoid, and scarlet fever—from house to house cannot be doubted, and it is positively known to be the principal agent by which the so-called "black" or bubonic plague is spread.

For chapped and cracked hands nothing is quite so good as an application of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Put it on before going to bed, use an old pair of gloves and see what a difference the morning will bring. Sold by all druggists.

The Pace of Living

The pace of living in the United States seems to be getting faster. That it is the country's greatest danger of over indulgence has been nowhere better illustrated than in statistics furnished by the Department of Commerce and Labor.

We find that the value of luxuries imported into the United States for the fiscal year reached the astounding figure of $100,000,000. Tobacco, cigars and cigarettes were brought into the country to the extent of $25,000,000, which is more than double the importation of ten years ago.

The same figures show that opium smoking has largely increased, and to crown this, evidence of our running diamonds worth $40,000,000 passed through the customs last year as compared with only $75,000 worth a decade ago.

An Alarming Situation

The Party.

[Tallahassee, Tenn., Georgian Democrat.] The recent elections, in a national sense, offers small indication of a reviving of the democratic party. Indeed, some astute political observers appear to think that the party is in the last stages of disorganization. While this may be true so far as the present incoherent and demoralized fragments of a political crazy quilt, called by the courts and for want of a better name the "Democratic" some who care more for principles than name—more for good government than office holding—a viewing the situation with a cheerful optimism, based upon an absolutely faith in the ultimate preservation of the doctrines of Jefferson in their fundamental essentials.

This view is supported by the tenacity with which the party holds itself as a factor to be reckoned in political contests, and the virility and which it displays in the face of crushing defeats and internal dissensions. At no time in its history, however, has its prospects appeared so gloomy as the present. A leaderless host, with no friendly star to guide its destinies, it wanders in the wilderness for confusion and the darkness of doubt. The cause of its disaster is not far to seek. The path of the fathers, where the cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night marked the safe and pleasant way, is forsaken for the devious ways of political adventure—the solid, cohesive ranks are broken into disorganized gangs of political free-booters—every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost.

But when things looked the blackest, then come better times. When the party is done hobnobbing with populism—when it is through rubbing noses with socialism—when it tires of following the ignis fatuus of a short out promised land then we hope to see it rehabilitated with reason and reconvicted of sin and bring fruits meet for repentance.

Does The A. S. of E. in Owensboro Tax Suit--Judge Barker Writes Opinion.

A decision just handed down by Judge Henry S. Barker, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, in a suit by the local A. S. of E. at Owensboro against the city tax collector of Owensboro, scores another victory for farmers in establishing their right to pool their crops. As reported, the case was about this: A lot of tobacco in hogsheads had been stored by members of the Society of Equity with Messrs. Turpin & Wood, as their agents to hold and sell when a reasonable price could be obtained. The Owensboro City Tax Collector, J. C. O'Bryon, was preparing to sell a number of these hogsheads to satisfy city tax claims. Turpin & Wood, together with members of the A. S. of E. constituting the finance committee of the Society brought suit to enjoin the tax collector. Judge Birkhead, the Circuit Judge, granted. The tax collector appealed and Judge Barker dismissed the appeal and sustained Judge Birkhead.

Wages on Russian Farms.

The extreme poverty and low standard of living of peasants, from whom the agricultural laborers are recruited assure a low level of wage for agricultural labor. The average wages will appear almost incredible low from an American point of view, notwithstanding the general complaints of the laborers.

According to an official investigation embracing the decade of 1882-1891, the average annual wages for a male agricultural worker in Russia were less than $32, and for a female worker less than $13. To this must be added the cost of subsistence, which is equally low, being on an average $24 for a male and $22 for a female worker for a whole year. So that the average cost of employing a laborer for the entire is equal to only $55 for the male and $40 for the female.

The wages for the summer of five months are almost equal to the annual wages, being $22 for the male and $13 for the female laborer. A vegetable corrective for the stomachs of babies and children, with the name of each ingredient in English on every bottle, that is CASCASWEETS, the ideal medicine for the little ones. Contains no opiates. Conforms fully with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Write E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill., for the "Baby Book." Sold by all druggists.

The Most Precious Gem.

An official of the national museum at Washington gives some facts not generally known concerning the relative values of diamonds and rubies.

According to the latest figures obtainable, ruby weighing as much as 5 karats is worth ten to twelve times as much as a diamond of the same weight, even though the latter be of the first water. The ruby, therefore, instead of the diamond is the mental that embodies the highest money value in the smallest compass.

MID-NIGHT RAIDERS.

Destroy Two Tobacco Factories at Princeton.

Loss Between $75,000 and $100,000—Excitement Runs High.

For over an hour shortly after mid-night, last Friday night, Princeton, Ky., was in the hands of a band of 300 masked men, who destroyed the tobacco stemmeries of Stegar & Dollar and John C. Orr, in addition to several other buildings, causing a loss of between $75,000 and $100,000. The stemmeries which were destroyed were closely identified with the tobacco trust.

The raiders took possession of the water works, the telephone service, the telegraph offices and even the court house, to prevent any one from tolling the bell, and disarmed all the policemen and kept the firemen within their quarters. Over 200 shots were fired and the daring citizen who stuck his head out of the window quickly withdrew it to the accompaniment of a whiz of bullets and a positive order to get back.

Some of the night raiders began to slip into town early in the evening and posted themselves at different points, where they were prepared to act as guards. The main body of men did not make their appearance, however, until about 12:30, when from every road and bypath they rode, walked and drove into Princeton. There was no attempt at concealment, for as the raiders rushed through the streets they fired their pistols in the air, and for a time there was a reign of terror.

First they went to police headquarters and succeeded in disarming the policemen. Then a portion of the crowd proceeded to the telephone exchange, where two girls were on duty. These were ordered to leave their desks, and upon their compliance, they sent them home under guard.

In the mean time a body of men had taken charge of the telegraph office, while another crowd was in full possession of the water works. Then the work of destruction was begun by visiting the Orr factory. In this there was 250,000 pounds of tobacco, and the building itself was worth about $20,000. The torch was at once applied, and aided by the use of dynamite, the building was soon a mass of ruins.

The next place visited was the Stegar & Dollar stemmery, which contained about 200,000 pounds of tobacco, the stemmery, being valued at $15,000. This shared the fate of the Orr building and in order to make the work of destruction more certain, oil was poured on the sides of the building.

Then, without further to do, the raiders scattered as they had come, by every road and bypath and in a few minutes only the light of the flames from the blazing buildings remained to tell of their presence.

Meanwhile the fireman, who had been powerless to act, owing to the fact that the raiders had control of the water works, rushed to the scene as soon as the incendiaries left, and after a stubborn fight succeeded in subduing the flames. Not, however, before several other buildings had been destroyed.

It was impossible to discover the identity of any of the men in the raiding party, as their masks completely concealed their features.

The people of Princeton and the surrounding county are indignant over the outrage, and the officials declare that every effort will be made to run the perpetrators of the crime to earth.

This is the third time within the past few months that factories have been destroyed by "night riders," having been blown up recently, one at Fredonia and one at Eddyville.

The mob left Princeton before 2 o'clock and proceeded in the direction of Eddyville. When within about four miles of Eddyville they turned off the Cadiz road and proceeded in the direction of the place.

Some of the tobacco men say that the work was not that of any members of the Tobacco Growers' Association. They hint that the fires were started by enemies of the Association.

The daring act of the incendiaries has created great excitement. When the news reached Kuttawa the sheriff of Lyons county started at once for Princeton, where he began to raise a posse with the intention

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve-tonic, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomachic tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

Do Government Jobs Because Wages Are Too Low and Examinations Too High.

Everybody except Uncle Sam is raising wages and the result is that Uncle Sam is getting short of help, says a Washington dispatch. People used to stand in line for jobs under the government. They don't do it any more. The government stands in line in many parts of the country—and it is clear down to the small end of the line, too—filling its applications for persons to work for it and not getting them.

The postoffice service in large regions is in a serious condition for want of clerks. They cannot be had at the wages paid. So serious, in fact, has this become that the civil service examinations for many classes of positions have had to be toned down in order that people willing to take the positions can get through the tests and reach the eligible lists. This, according to an official of the commission, has had to be done in a number of cases.

This official tells of one $75 per month postoffice clerkship that was offered in turn to every one of a dozen persons who had taken and passed the examination. All refused it and a second examination failed to secure an eligible, who would take the post when it was tendered him. It can't raise wages out of hand just because it needs people. Congress hasn't fixed things that way.

Back ache, cold hands and feet, rheumatism and kindred ailments caused by improper action of the kidneys yield readily to a short treatment of DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They quickly drive the poisons from the system and thus afford relief. A week's treatment for 25c. Recommended by all druggists.

Long-Lost Treasure Found.

The director of the treasury of Brazil while hunting for some lost papers has made an astonishing discovery. A box which had not apparently been disturbed for many years was found to contain gold, silver and diamonds to the value at least $700,000. Among the valuables recovered are the imperial crown and scepter of Brazil, valued at $105,000 and the imperial mantle, bordered with gold. The box in which the treasure was found is believed to have been deposited in the treasury since 1836.

GREAT NAVAL DISPLAY.

Hampton Roads to be the Scene of A Brilliant Marine Spectacle During Exposition.

No more appropriate place than Hampton Roads could be imagined as a setting for the naval rendezvous to be held there next year in connection with the Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition, commemorating the landing of the early English colonists, at Jamestown, Va., not far away. The Exposition is on the southern shore of Hampton Roads not far away from the clustering cities of Tidewater, Virginia. Almost equidistant from the site are the cities of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News and Old Point Comfort. At this latter spot is the Government's greatest artillery station and the waters in front of it has long been used as a rendezvous for the fine ships of Uncle Sam's navy. The water is of sufficient depth to float the largest battleship and placid enough to lull anyone to sleep on the tiniest pleasure craft.

For miles the great roadstead stretches away from the site of the Exposition grounds, encircled with spots recalling every epoch of the martial history of the United States. First and foremost of these is, of course, the great fort at Old Point Comfort, known as Fortress Monroe. The waters include the scene of the battle between the Monitor and the Merimac, of Virginia. They once floated British sailors in a fierce attack made on Crane's Island in the harbor. The attack was repulsed with great loss. John Paul Jones was a frequent visitor, coming down in his yacht from his plantation, on the banks of the Rappahannock. The Constitution and the Constellation sailed from its waters on famous cruises, which brought them and their commanders eternal glory. The ill-fated Chesapeake set forth from Hampton Roads on the cruise which was to humiliate her commander by his being obliged to surrender with almost no resistance. Sewell's Point, the site of the Exposition, was, during the Civil War, the location of a Confederate battery and was repeatedly shelled by Union war vessels.

On the other side of the roadstead is Hampton Roads, now the location of the Soldiers Home, carried during the Revolution by British troops. Nearby is Smithfield, where lies buried the remains of many of the early colonists. Indian relics abound in the region about Hampton Roads.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

Density of the Human Body.

A French scientific writer points out that a mere gain of weight should not in itself be taken as an indication of improved bodily condition. It is, according to him, rather a question of the density than the quantity of the tissue which covers the bones. When increased weight results from increased density, then the health is really improved. In order that this principle may be practically applied, he suggests the use of baths containing a known quantity of water and supplied with appliances for measurement whereby the density of the immersed body may be calculated in the manner in which Archimedes ascertained the density of King Hiero's crown of adulterated gold.

Deadly Serpent Bites

Are as common in India as are stomach and liver disorders with us. For the latter, however, there is a sure remedy. Electric Bitters, the great restorative medicine, of which S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "They restored my wife to perfect health, after years of suffering with dyspepsia and a chronically torpid liver." Electric Bitters cure chills and fever, malaria, biliousness, lame back, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. Sold on guarantee by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro., druggists. Price 50c.

Hard to Account for It.

Why any one should take the trouble to discuss such revolting subjects as experimental marriage and kindred subjects, is surprising. There are so many things in the world that ought to be interesting to clean, pure-minded people that it is a wonder that any one should thrust such subjects upon them.

Who Pays the Advertising Bill?

An unknown exchange asks: "Did you ever think about it? Who pays for the advertising of merchants and other business men? Not the advertiser, for the cost is returned to him twofold in net increased profits. Not the purchaser, for he buys cheaper from the advertiser and has a better assortment and fresher goods to select from. Who, then, really pays the advertising bills? The non-advertiser, of course. A just proportion of the money he loses by his lack of initiative enterprise finds way eventually to the printer, to advance the cause of education and the interests of the community. Who pays for that advertising which attracts the people of this town and other towns? The home merchant not only loses that trade, but in that loss pays for the other fellow's advertising. Isn't it plain? The "store keeper" is a relic of the past, the active merchant is an active being of to-day.

Following the Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant, U. S. A., of Rural Route, No. 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases." Guaranteed by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bros., druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Whale Killing With Electricity.

An ingenious Yankee sea captain has invented an apparatus with which he thinks whales can be killed by electric shock. A harpoon is fixed at the end of a long, metallic cable, properly insulated, and which serves in place of the usual rope. Through this cable an electric current of 10,000 volts is to be sent by means of a dynamo carried on the whaleboat. No whale will be able to withstand such a shock.

The Kodol laboratory is a very large one, but if all the sufferers from indigestion and stomach troubles could know the virtues of Kodol it would be impossible for the manufacturers to keep up with the demand. The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is hereby ordered that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition, and that in the future in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

SECRETARY BONAPARTE wants to reduce the number of rich men in this country. He can get more votes on a proposition to reduce the number of poor ones.

JUST let this thing of centralizing railroads continue for a little while, and Mr. Bryan can condense the issue by urging government ownership of Mr. Harriman.

THE Muhlenberg Argus is still mad over the election. It will probably not be here to weep and rail over another one. It seems to have been born with a pickle in its mouth.

THAT committee of ministers, which visited the Governor last week, must have been easily satisfied.

Such simple, abiding faith has not been known in modern times. Even the New Testament mentions only one such example, but that was in Christ Himself.

ALL right minded people will condemn the burning of the tobacco factories as Princeton. It strikes at the very foundation of our social system. Under such resort no one's property would be safe. The torch is the last and most cruel form of vengeance, under which the innocent must suffer. It is wrong, however, to charge this outrage to the American Society of Equity, or the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association. The members of that mob may or may not have been members of either order. If they were, we stake our reputation on the statement that they had no orders from either organization to commit this crime. The contest between the tobacco trust and the growers' has been a hard fought one. No act of persecution has been too low for the trust to attempt. In order to break up the order, it has used every known device to draw off and buy out its membership. It is no wonder that, in such a contest, there should be created frenzy among the excitable. For the act of a few misguided men, the whole organization should not be censured. Nothing could have happened which would better play into the hands of the trust, by depriving the organization of the sympathy and support from the country at large, which it so well deserves. We are glad to note that the Secretary of the National Tobacco Growers' Association was prompt to give out a statement condemning the Princeton outrage in no uncertain terms.

DOESN'T KNOW ITSELF.

Last week, in response to a tirade of the Hartford Herald, we said: "Since the Hartford Herald has taken occasion, in its customary hysteric way, to vent its spleen on THE REPUBLICAN because we jokingly glibed it about its slow progress, we have gone through the musty files of that publication in our office to learn what it said about us when we donned the eight-page form. In their issue of November 23, 1903, we find the following: 'The Hartford REPUBLICAN quotes some of their subscribers as endorsing its new form, while we have heard several Republicans object to it, but they all unite in condemning the gloomy black heading across the top. The paper has been under its new management just about long enough to find out that some of its friends are ready to 'put a head on it.' This, gentle reader, is the way the Herald kindly stated the facts' of our change to an eight-page paper and

"wished us progress."

This so inflamed the minds of the erstwhile goody-goody Herald editors that they chattered at us with the simplicity of a seven-year-old child, in the following manner:

"The fact is, the Herald was not published on November 23, 1903. It was printed on its regular publication day, two days later, November 25, 1903, but we fail to find any such quotation as mentioned in its editorial columns of that date. We thought that the REPUBLICAN had possibly made a mistake, and so we turned to a year later, November 23, 1904, and in that issue we find no editorial mention of the REPUBLICAN. Will the REPUBLICAN acknowledge that it has wilfully misstated the facts, or will it give us the real dates and quotations?"

Are the Herald editors so forgetful and know themselves so imperfectly that they cannot recall what they said just three short years ago, or do they think they are cunning enough to deceive the public about what they did say? We cannot, for the purpose of helping it out of its dire predicament, admit or even hint that we have wilfully, or at all, misstated the facts in regard to this matter. We erred as to the date, only, and it is a pitiful defense for the Herald to say that it cannot find the quotation. December 23, 1903, is the date of the paper from which we took the paragraph, and the Herald editors will find it in the first column of the second page, fourteenth paragraph. If, however, from this information, they are unable to locate it, and if they or either of them, will call at our office, we will put his finger on the paragraph for him.

The inference might be drawn from the Herald's palaver that it will, occasionally, speak in kind terms of the REPUBLICAN hereafter. If so it has certainly met with a complete change of heart, as it is common knowledge that since the establishment of this paper the Herald has very seldom missed an opportunity to attempt to discredit it.

Surprise Wedding.

[Owensboro Messenger.]

The marriage was a great surprise and only a few friends knew of it until yesterday afternoon. Judge Haskins is one of the most popular young men in the city. He is leader of the Third Regiment band, city judge, a well known member of the Elks, Masons, Knights of Pythias and Red Men.

Home, Sweet Home.

Did you ever have a feeling queer, Come tugging at your heart, Just thinking of your mother, dear, And the day you had to part; When she said to you these simple words

"My boy, you are a man, And I am proud to see you go To fight for Uncle Sam."

Many a night I've sat and thought Of days that have passed by, And I seem to get quite home-sick, You can guess the reason why; For miles and miles divide us, And many months must go,

Before I can see my mother, dear, And they seem to go so slow.

I cannot help but think of her, For I know she thinks of me, And prays that I may soon return, From far across the sea; And then some comrade will step up, And tap me a gentle blow, And say, "cheer up cheer up old man, I know it can't be so."

Come let's us have a game of chess, And let our troubles rest; I know you're handy at the game, But I think I am the best; But it takes more than a game of chess

To drown the thoughts of home, When you know your father and mother dear Are waiting all alone.

With the bright light in the window To guide my footsteps right, And neighbors often wonder Why they see that light all night; Yes boys, she's waiting patiently, With a lone heart that's fond and true,

But many a mother still waits for her son, That died for the Red White and Blue. G. E. S.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

The Girl Graduate Was Equal to the Emergency.

"So you break our engagement, Gwendolen!" he exclaimed bitterly. "Then in your presence let me end the life which you have blighted."

Drawing forth a vial marked "Poison," he put it to his lips and drained it to the last drop. As he sank back unconscious did the beautiful girl fling herself upon his breast in an agony of remorse and burst forth into frenzied sobs? Scarcely!

Hastily quitting the room, she returned presently, her lovely face tragic, yet composed. Kneeling beside the young man, she forced between his lips the following: (1) One cup of turpentine; (2) one pint of milk; (3) a bowl of warm soap-suds; (4) a small bottle of aromatic ammonia; (5) a cup of black coffee; (6) a glass of mustard water; (7) a gill of vinegar; (8) juice of a lemon; (9) the beaten whites of six eggs; (10) one cup of flour and water.

"Algernon," she observed coldly as he began to revive, "it is evident you did not know that I am a graduate of a correspondence course in first aid to the injured. My one regret is that, since it was impossible for me to ascertain whether the poison you took was an acid or an alkali, I was compelled to administer all the antidotes of which we had learned."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Feeling.

Mr. Seesig—Yes, it was my first ocean trip.

Miss Romanz—Ah! When you realized that you were on the great bosom of old ocean, did you not feel like shouting in your exhilaration—

Mr. Seesig—Well, I don't know about the exhilaration, but I—er—could scarcely contain myself.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Park Dudes.

Gussie—Deah boy, what did Miss Tabasco say about us chappies?

Bob—Why, she said you reminded her so much of the autumn leaves.

Gussie—Ah, because we are so brilliant?

Bob—No; because there are so many dead ones among you.—Chicago News.

The Age of Unwisdom.

Stern Father—Willie, didn't you know it was wrong to steal?—Boston Globe.

John Obeyed.

Mrs. F. was a very stern woman, who demanded instant and unquestioning obedience from her children, says Chums. One afternoon as she was working in her sewing room a storm came up, and she sent her son John to close the trap leading to the flat roof of the house.

"But, mother!" said John.

"John, I told you to shut the trap."

"Yes, but, mother!"

"John, shut that trap!"

"All right, mother, if you say so, but—"

"John!"

John slowly climbed the stairs and shut the trap. The afternoon went by, and the storm howled and raged. Two hours later the family gathered for tea, and when the meal was half over Aunt Mary, who was staying with Mrs. F., had not appeared. Mrs. F. started an investigation. She did not have to ask many questions. John answered the first one.

"Please, mother, she is up on the roof."

English "As She Is Wrote."

Some ludicrous mistakes are made by some of the French-Canadian people in our New England cotton mill towns in their attempt to master English.

One summer a grain dealer in Somersworth, N. H., received a written order from one of his French customers, which read as follows:

"Please send

"1 bag hole corn.

"1 mix field.

"5 pounds acid."

The clerk, who has had many years' experience with these people, said at once, "Send him a bag of whole corn, a bag of mixed feed and five pounds of grass seed, or, as the French people put it, 'hayseed.'"

And he was right.

At another time an order was received for a bag of "corn broke," and at still another an order for a bag of "corn not broke."—Boston Herald.

Chimneys Are Fickle.

"The hardest problem the builder has to wrestle with," said a well known member of the profession, "is the chimney. What the heathen Chinese is to the human race and the left handed mule to the animal kingdom the chimney is to the various appurtenances that go to make up a human habitation. There is no safe rule for the construction of chimneys. You can build a chimney all right in theory, but when it comes down to practice that is another matter. Build two chimneys side by side in precisely the same manner. Employ the best skilled labor and construct them exactly on the same principles. One may draw all right and the other one smoke like a Choctaw. Yes, sir, the chimney is beyond all understanding, and any builder will tell you so."

Webster's Retainer.

One day a man entered Daniel Webster's office and consulted him in regard to a prospective lawsuit. At the close of the conference he paid the attorney a retainer of $100 to look after the matter. Upon returning to his place of business he found that his partner had already settled the suit, obtaining the sum demanded without an attorney. He thought $100 was altogether too much for an office fee, so he dispatched his clerk to look after the subject.

"Mr. Webster," said the young man, "my employer thinks you should return a part of your retainer. That case has been settled."

"Young man," said the lawyer, "you go back and tell your employer that a retainer is something to be retained."

Curing a Pampered Pet.

A very clever veterinary had a system all his own. When he received an overfed toy dog he would consign him to a disused brick oven with a crust of bread, an onion and an old boot. When the dog began to gnaw the bread the anxious mistress was informed that her darling was "doing nicely." When it commenced operations on the onion word was sent that the pet was "decidedly better," but when the animal tackled the boot his lady was gratified to hear that her precious pet was "ready to be removed."—Woman's Home Companion.

How It Started.

"Talk about human beings having descended from such as you!" exclaimed Poll. "They're much more likely to have evolved from birds. You can't speak their language, and I can."

"I don't deny," responded Jocko, "that they got their long tongues from your family."

It was then that the two had their celebrated monkey and parrot time.—Chicago Tribune.

Lead Workers.

It is said that lead working disfigures the human body more than any other kind of work. In this industry it is inevitable that sooner or later the workers must succumb to lead poisoning, and there would appear to be no part of the body that the poisonous fumes and floating particles which permeate the atmosphere of the workshops do not affect. The complexion takes on a ghastly, corpse-like pallor, the gums turn blue, the teeth decay rapidly and fall out, and the eyelids are hideously inflamed. A scratch or an abrasion of the skin becomes an unhealable sore. Later on, when nerves and muscles become affected by the poison in the blood, the eyeballs are drawn into oblique positions and take on a dim and bleared appearance. The joints, especially the knee and the wrist, become semiparalyzed, and the whole form is gradually bent and contorted.

Failed to Please.

His eyes make no attempt to conceal his admiration of the beautiful young thing as she enters the parlor.

Indeed, he does not want them to. "You are positively queenly," he declares enthusiastically.

An offended expression comes to her face.

"Queenly?" she asks disdainfully.

"Yes; you are a veritable queen in appearance."

Haughtily she bids him leave.

"But why?" he inquires, amazed.

"Oh, nothing. I'm a queen in appearance, am I? Well, I happened to look over a lot of magazine pictures of different queens and princesses today, and if you think I look like them it's time for you and me to be strangers."—Life.

What Restrained Him.

A stranger in a small town wanted the advice of a lawyer and as he came upon a sign which read, "A. Swindle, Attorney at Law."

He entered the office and after receiving the necessary advice said that the lawyer was a fine man, but he wanted to know why he made his name sound so ridiculous and why he did not put his first name in full.

"I would," replied the lawyer, laughing, "if my first name were not Adam."—Magazine of Fun.

One Way to Catch Fish.

A curious method of catching fish is practiced by the Chinese. The fisherman lowers a screen of white canvas from the side of his boat, which a shoal of fish will often mistake for some floating obstruction and endeavor to leap over, with the result that many jump into the boat and are thus captured. This ingenious practice is also pursued by Malay fishermen.

GOVERNMENT WAGES LOW.

H. T. Newcomb Gives Facts of Interest to Wage Earners.

From 1896 to 1904 the average retail cost of the ordinary articles of food used in the United States advanced no less than 17 per cent (16.96, to be more exact)—that is, the purchaser of food for a family had to pay $1.17 in 1904 for the same quantity and quality of food that $1 would purchase in 1896. These are official statistics compiled by the highly skilled experts employed by the federal government, and every housewife knows that they do not overstate the advance. Other necessities of life have advanced in cost with approximately equal rapidity.

Unquestionably wages ought, generally speaking, to have advanced somewhat in proportion to the increase in the cost of living. In private employment this has apparently taken place, the average wages per hour reported by the federal bureau of labor being 17.36 per cent higher in 1904 than in 1896 and the average weekly earnings 12.76 per cent higher. The advances thus represented are spread all over the country; they characterize every private industrial enterprise and have benefited all classes of workmen employed in private undertakings.

How is it with public employment? A few undertakings conducted under public ownership employ labor like that similarly serving private employers in the same communities, and in these cases the public rate of wages has slowly been advanced somewhat in proportion to the advance in the wages privately paid. But where any American government, municipal, state or national, is the sole or by far the largest employer of a particular class of labor the advances to meet increased cost of living have been so few that the ordinary investigator will be unable to discover a single instance.

Throughout the postal service, among the 25,000 clerical employees at Washington, in the customs and internal revenue services there have been no advances in pay to meet the rise in cost of food, clothing and shelter. The pay of letter carriers, for example, remains precisely where it was fixed twenty years ago by an act approved on Jan. 3, 1887.

The largest printing office in the world is that maintained at Washington by the government, and there the federal government employs a large force of intelligent and highly skilled workmen. A change in the basis of payment in 1890 from the piece work to the per hour system prevents comparisons with dates prior to the change, but wages have remained stationary since March 3, 1890, although the official statisticians report that the cost of food has advanced since the rate of wages was fixed by statute fully 12.25 per cent. During the same years the wages of printers in private book publishing or job printing establishments advanced throughout the United States as follows: Compositors, male, 14.67 per cent; compositors, female, 20.30 per cent; press feeders, male, 22.41 per cent; press feeders, female, 21.27 per cent; pressmen, 11.75 per cent.—H. T. Newcomb.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

in small cities and towns, because:

1. There is not a sufficient population to support a GOOD school.
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make it a practice to travel about and defraud their patrons.
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such localities.
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are located in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified.
5. The graduates of business colleges in smaller cities are not able to secure employment in large cities, or in those with competition with the THOROUGH business colleges.

Transform, be wise, and don't waste your money for a worthless education at some cheap school.

CONDENSED STORIES.

An Incident That Illustrates the Value of Amiability.

A young man in the neckwear department of Marshall Field & Co., who had been with the firm but a short time, was one day waiting on a customer who seemed to be unusually hard to please. The would be purchaser, who was a handsome elderly man, tossed the ties about and seemed to desire any shade and style save those offered for his approval. The salesman patiently displayed a varied assortment of the goods, deftly knotting the ties and holding them out to show the effect and the shimmer of the satin or silk, searching through boxes for the desired colors and, in spite of the somewhat capricious manner of the customer, never for a moment losing his smiling good nature. Finally a half dozen ties were selected, and, having pencil, the clerk asked the usual question:

"WHAT NAME, PLEASE?"

"Cash or charge?"

"Charge," replied the gray haired man.

"What name, please?"

"Marshall Field."

The new salesman almost gasped with astonishment, and he probably does not know to this day that his subsequent promotion was owing to his sincere politeness and patient endeavor to serve his employer and to please his customer, who, of course, in this case proved to be one and the same person.—Saturday Evening Post.

Judge Upton's Experiment.

Judge Upton of Keene, N. H., was a strict prohibitionist and was long noted for the severity of the sentences he imposed on those arraigned before him for intoxication, says the Boston Herald.

Discouraged by his failure to diminish intemperance in his jurisdiction, he one day determined to ascertain what there was about spirituous liquor that made it so attractive to its votaries. Accordingly he obtained a supply of Medford rum, and before retiring for the night he drank a generous amount of the liquor, intending to record the effect carefully.

The next morning those who were present in court were surprised to see the drunkards promptly discharged, while all other delinquents received their due punishment.

At the close of the session the prosecuting officer ventured to inquire why the court had so completely reversed his usual attitude toward the "drunks."

Judge Upton raised his head, which had been bowed upon his hands, and, still pressing his throbbing temples, replied mournfully: "Poor devils! Let them go! They are punished enough."

After All.

Chauncey Olcott possesses that rare gift, a broad sense of the humor of things in everyday life. He relates through an exchange the following incident which fell under his observation while travelling through the bituminous coal regions of Pennsylvania. A large, motherly looking woman in a department store said to a shopgirl:

"I want to get a pair of gloves for my Jim. He's going to a ball."

"Yes, madam," said the girl, producing white kid gloves. "This is the kind, I suppose."

"Them!" cried the woman. "Goodness, no! They'd be too good. My Jim's got a hand like a shoulder of mutton. Besides, they're too dear. Haven't you got something like the policemen wear—at about 15 cents?"

The clerk smilingly regretted that they did not keep that kind.

"Oh, very well," the old party replied. "There's no help for it—Jim'll have to wash his hands after all."

THE MODERN PSALM OF LIFE

Tell me not in mournful numbers
To work big schemes is a pipe dream
If thou dost postpone thy slumbers,
Nor take people as they seem.

Life is real! Life is earnest!
Only in a sure thing trust.
Dust go to, to dust return;
Always be ready for the dust.

Art is long, and time is fleeting,
And art pays no dividends,
So waste time not on its greeting—
Use it strictly for cash ends.

Lives of fakirs all remind us
We can live on nerve sublime
And, foot laden, leave behind us
Other people "doing time."

Let us then be up and doing—
Doing every one we can.
We will have luck as pursuing "Doing" thus our fellow man!
—Baltimore American.

Talk Isn't Always Cheap.

"I went to lawyer apout some advice on my piness, and he charged me $50 for life minutes' conversation."
"Gracious! What extravagant language he must use!"—Philadelphia Press.

Red Revenge.

"So you spurn me!" he cries in wrathful woe. "But I shall have my revenge!"

"Ha, ha," laughs the heartless maiden.

"You may laugh now, but wait! In the four years I have known you you have given me six photographs of yourself. Each one of these I shall have enlarged by the cheap crayon process and presented to your various friends and relatives."

Leaving the frightened girl in a swoon, the cruel swain departs with the melodramatic tread of one who will stop at nothing.—Judge.

Sad Story.

"Ah, my poor man," said the kind housewife, "is it really true that you once had a position and lost it because you were too tender hearted?"

"Yes, mum," sighed the tattered wanderer as he brushed away an imaginary tear. "I was cook in an eating house."

"And—why did you leave?"

"Because I didn't have the heart to smother a beefsteak, mum."—Detroit Tribune.

Her Alibi.

"Katherine, you are such a pronounced vegetarian."

"Yes, dear."

"Well, the new landlord around the corner will just suit you for a husband."

"Gracious! Why so?"

"Because he has tomato-like cheeks, pumpkin colored hair and carrot whiskers."—Chicago News.

Driving It Home.

Daughter—Have you found out yet what it was that papa cut out of the paper?

Mother—Yes, I bought another copy. I've read it all through, but to save my life I can't see anything wrong in it. It's an article on the vulgarity and silliness of buying furs that are beyond one's means.—New York Press.

More Reform.

"What do you think of the spelling reform?"

"Well," answered Farmer Cornsont, "this idea of shortening the words is a start in the right direction. But what those speakers up to Washington want to start is a movement for shorter sentences an' fewer of them."—Washington Star.

Honors Easy.

"What's the matter?" demanded the customer as the tobaccoist examined his nickel. "That coin's all right."

"Oh, it'll pass, I guess," replied the tobaccoist, "but it isn't as good as it might be."

"Well, neither is this cigar."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Various Hunters.

"Well, it's just this way," said the sportsman. "The man who can go out hunting day after day and not care whether he gets anything or not has the right stuff in him."

"Yes," remarked Sinnickson, "especially when he's hunting for work, eh?"—Philadelphia Press.

An Epitaph.

Some one hands in the following epitaph:

Beneath this sod lies Willie Green, A very reckless little fellow. He ate six apples like his name; He couldn't wait till they got molder.

—Millwaukee Sentinel.

One Man's Theory.

"Money makes the mare go," quoted the scanty haired bachelor.

"Due to her sex, doubtless," rejoined the man who acted as freight payer for a wife and three grown daughters.—Chicago News.

Didn't Look That Way.

"Archie is fairly going crazy over his new automobile."

"That's strange. Every time I've seen him he has been going crazy under it."—Pick-Me-Up.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured. MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.
